PATROL DUTY IS NEW

FOR THE U. S. SAILOR

Only the officers and men who have had to endure the rigors of patrol work in the North Sea and the northern waters of the West Atlantic understand what a severe strain this is upon the endurance and constitution. Our fleet is usually sent to southern waters, with Guantanamo, Cuba. as a base. during the winter weather. Now, however, their patrol duties in European waters are subjecting them to the most severe exposure,

Speaking on this subject, Thomas C.

J. Peoples of our navy explained before the house appropriations committee that the prospects of a winter's campaign in extremely cold waters necessitates unusual weight of clothcampaign in extremely cold waters necessitates unusual weight of clothing from the inner garments out. The special garments now being made for these forces include: Two hundred thousand windproof shirts, two hundred thousand windproof trousers, two hundred thousand blanket overshirts, 190,000 pairs of articles two hundred. 190,000 pairs of arteties, two hundred thousand pairs of mittens, ¼ million suits of underclothing, 403,500 pairs of heavy wool cocks, and ten thousand pairs of high leather sea boots.
